

177-1587

American Economic Association
Northwestern University
629 Noyes Street
Evanston, Illinois 60201

Gentlemen:

There are within the Central Intelligence Agency economists of outstanding abilities whose achievements merit public recognition beyond that which this Agency is able to accord them.

Further, we believe that professional recognition by colleagues would be more rewarding to these individuals than generalized honors which might be available through other organizations.

Information concerning awards sponsored by the American Economic Association will greatly assist us in our search for recognition of those officials of CIA whose contributions merit such honors.

Sincerely,

Deputy Director of Personnel

STATINTL

Distribution:

O&I-Addressee

2-D/Pers

1

OP/BSD  March 67)

STATINTL

9 MAR 1967

Mr. Fred G. Clark, Chairman
American Economic Foundation
51 East 42nd Street
New York, New York 10017

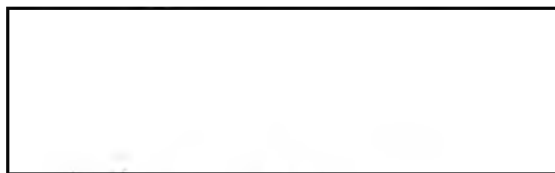

Dear Mr. Clark:

There are within the Central Intelligence Agency economists of outstanding abilities whose achievements merit public recognition beyond that which this Agency is able to accord them.

Further, we believe that professional recognition by colleagues would be more rewarding to these individuals than generalized honors which might be available through other organizations.

Information concerning awards sponsored by the American Economic Foundation will greatly assist us in our search for recognition of those officials of CIA whose contributions merit such honors.

Sincerely,

Deputy Director of Personnel

STATINTL

Distribution:

O&I-Addressee

2-D/Pers

1

OP/BSO/  March 67)

STATINTL

STATINTL

Approved For Release 2002/11/15 : CIA-RDP84-00313R000100020003-6

Approved For Release 2002/11/15 : CIA-RDP84-00313R000100020003-6